RACE No12 KENTUCKY DERBY

PROJECTED PACE:

Halterman

I'll go over my top five in order in what was one of the toughest Kentucky Derby's for me to handicap. A lot of these horses look the same, and all of them have their flaws.

#5 Tapit Trice is who I landed on, even though I'm worried about his trip. I wish he was on the outside; however, he has won twice when drawing the rail. He seems like the most talented horse in the race, while I'm just going to trust that Saez can work out a trip for him.

#14 Angel Of Empire just keeps getting better with every race. He still needs to show some minor improvement, but overall, he is right there with a chance.

#22 Mandarin Hero draws into the race and should be tough if he runs as well as he did last time out. He came over from Japan and nearly won the Santa Anita Derby (G1).

#17 Derma Sotogake is a horse who could also play an impact in the race from Japan after a solid win in the UAE Derby (G2).

#8 Mage is the horse that can sit the perfect trip if he can finally break well. However, that's been a huge problem for him, and could be again today. He has the early speed to get a winning trip, though, which makes him scary.

In the end, I have to do what I do best, even with enticing exotics sitting there in this spot, I'm sticking with a win wager. This is a toughie...and I feel like a win wager at 5-1 or 6-1 on Tapit Trice is the right play for me.

$50 to Win on #5 Tapit Trice

Total Bet: $50

Welch

This Kentucky Derby has been such a fun, yet incredibly challenging race to handicap. Coming out of this race with a cash would be a huge success!

Without further ado, I'm picking #5 Tapit Trice on top to win Kentucky Derby 149. I just think he's the best horse in the race. The post position isn't ideal, but can make it work with the best jockey in the country riding him.

With the scratch of #15 Forte this morning it really throws off all my betting plans for this race. I loved keying him in second as I thought he had a great chance to run second. Now, in my opinion, his stable mate Tapit Trice becomes the key horse.

If Tapit Trice doesn't win, I believe six other horses have a good chance at winning: #3 Two Phil's, #6 Kingsbarns, #8 Mage, #14 Angel of Empire, #17 Derma Sotogake, and #22 Mandarin Hero. That's right, two Japanese horses. Who would have thought?

Make no mistake, between the crop and all the scratches, this has become the most challenging Kentucky Derby to handicap in my career. I've been on Tapit Trice all year so I'm going to lean on that opinion here. But don't be afraid to get creative in other bets as well. Good luck!

CHURCHILL DOWNS

#1 HIT SHOW

Morning Line Odds
30/1

Trainer: Brad Cox Jockey: Manny Franco Running Style: Closer

PROS: Solid turn of foot; Brad Cox; solid pedigree.

CONS: Hasn't beaten much; speed figures are a touch low.

BOTTOM LINE: This one seems to be developing nicely with each start. His win in the Withers Stakes (G3) was visually impressive, even though the competition may have been light. Despite a poor post in the Wood Memorial (G2), he was still able to get second and came within a nose of winning.

#2 VERIFYING

Morning Line Odds
15/1

Trainer: Brad Cox Jockey: Tyler Gaffalione Running Style: Speed

PROS: Speed figures that are comparable to the top horses in the crop.

CONS: Several losses on the resume; inconsistent.

BOTTOM LINE: He improved greatly in the Blue Grass Stakes (G1), coming up just short. That type of effort will give him a chance in the Kentucky Derby (G1), but he still will be hard-pressed to hold off some of the closers as they stretch out in distance.

#3 TWO PHIL'S

Morning Line Odds
12/1

Trainer: Larry Rivelli Jockey: Jareth Loveberry Running Style: Stalker

PROS: Consistent horse; crop-nerf 101 Beyer in Jeff Ruby Steaks (G3) romp.

CONS: Hasn't been able to finish the job on dirt.

BOTTOM LINE: If the Kentucky Derby (G1) was run on synthetic, then he'd probably be the favorite after a romp in the Jeff Ruby Steaks (G3) at Turfway Park. His 101 Beyer in that race is the fastest of any 3-year-old colt this season; however, he hasn't been able to finish the job in a couple of dirt stakes this year. Still, his talent is there, and you have to love how consistent he's been.

#4 CONFIDENCE GAME

Morning Line Odds
20/1

Trainer: Keith Desormeaux Jockey: James Graham Running Style: Closer

PROS: Solid progression; proven to be versatile.

CONS: Best race came in the slop; speed figures are lacking; no race since February.

BOTTOM LINE: His Rebel Stakes (G2) victory was an eye-opener when he proved that a sloppy track is not a problem. He still needs to improve to be a strong contender and he won't have raced between the Rebel in February and the Kentucky Derby in May, a gap which rarely works out in a horse's favor.

#5

TAPIT TRICE

Morning Line Odds
5/1

Trainer: Todd Pletcher

Jockey: Luis Saez

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Four straight solid wins; outstanding pedigree; long stride.

CONS: Still a little behind from a timing standpoint; fairly green.

BOTTOM LINE: He did exactly what he needed to do in the Blue Grass Stakes (G1) with an impressive win. His running style in the Tampa Bay Derby (G3) was not ideal; however, he was able to sit mid-pack and ranged up to third up the backside, which put him in perfect position. If he gets that kind of trip in the Kentucky Derby (G1), then he will be ultra-tough to hold off down the stretch.

#6

KINGSBARNS

Morning Line Odds
12/1

Trainer: Todd Pletcher

Jockey: Jose Ortiz

Running Style: Speed

PROS: Three for three to start his career; solid pedigree; improving with every race.

CONS: Speed figures still need small improvement; no races as a 2-year-old; Flavien Prat chose to ride Angel of Empire instead.

BOTTOM LINE: He looks to be developing into a monster after an ultra-impressive romp in the Louisiana Derby (G2). His lack of experience is still going to be an issue, but he has the running style that you like to see for the Kentucky Derby (G1).

#7

REINCARNATE

Morning Line Odds
50/1

Trainer: Tim Yakteen

Jockey: John Velazquez

Running Style: Speed

PROS: Never finished off the board; distance shouldn't be a problem.

CONS: Speed figures are still a bit low; several losses on the resume; never won off the lead; seems one paced.

BOTTOM LINE: He made no progression whatsoever in the Arkansas Derby (G1) despite a perfect trip. After that effort, it looks like he might just be a tad bit behind the top horses in this crop.

#8

MAGE

Morning Line Odds
15/1

Trainer: Gustavo Delgado

Jockey: Javier Castellano

Running Style: Stalker

PROS: Progressing with each race; competitive with Forte.

CONS: Behind from a timing standpoint with no races as a 2-year-old; trouble breaking from the gate.

BOTTOM LINE: He's proven to be a tough horse, running well in 2 stakes despite getting poor trips in both. His troubles at the gate will make for another brutal trip in the Kentucky Derby (G1), though, which is a big worry.

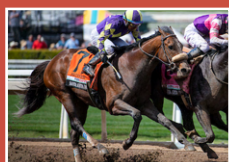

KENTUCKY DERBY HORSE CAPSULES

BETTING BIBLE

SATURDAY, MAY 6, 2023

CHURCHILL DOWNS

#9 SKINNER

Morning Line Odds
20/1

Trainer: John Shirreffs

Jockey: Juan Hernandez

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Excellent pedigree; solid in 3 straight starts.

CONS: Running style not ideal; had every chance to win the Santa Anita Derby (G1) and couldn't finish.

BOTTOM LINE: This guy continues to get better with each start and the added distance shouldn't be a problem. He's had big chances to win both of his last races, though, but couldn't finish the job.

#10 PRACTICAL MOVE

Morning Line Odds
10/1

Trainer: Tim Yakteen

Jockey: Ramon Vazquez

Running Style: Stalker

PROS: Three straight impressive graded stakes wins in southern California.

CONS: Questionable pedigree for 1 1/4 miles; didn't look quite as sharp stretching out to 1 1/8 miles.

BOTTOM LINE: He didn't have the same kick winning the Santa Anita Derby (G1) that he did in the San Felipe Stakes (G2). The distance of the Kentucky Derby (G1) is going to be tough for him and he's had perfect trips in his last 2 starts, another thing that will likely not happen in Kentucky.

#11 DISARM

Morning Line Odds
30/1

Trainer: Steve Asmussen

Jockey: Joel Rosario

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Solid pedigree; flashy races; decent second in the Louisiana Derby (G2).

CONS: Lack of experience; 0 for 3 this season; speed figures must improve.

BOTTOM LINE: This one could develop into a nice horse this summer but doesn't look to be good enough as of right now. He made a big improvement in his second race of the season but made very little forward progress last time out in the Lexington Stakes (G3).

#12 JACE'S ROAD

Morning Line Odds
15/1

Trainer: Brad Cox

Jockey: Florent Geroux

Running Style: Speed

PROS: Solid running style.

CONS: Inconsistent; not a fan of a wet track.

BOTTOM LINE: He'll play a part in the pace if he makes the gate, but he hasn't shown the ability to win a race like this. A wet track will also be problem, so if he enters, he'd better hope that it doesn't rain.

#13 SUN THUNDER

Morning Line Odds
50/1

Trainer: Kenny McPeck

Jockey: Brian Hernandez, Jr.

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Consistent horse; solid pedigree.

CONS: Low speed figures; running style; failed to win several prep races.

BOTTOM LINE: He earned his spot with several on-the-board finishes throughout the prep season but didn't win any of them. It'll be hard to change that trend in the Kentucky Derby (G1).

#14 ANGEL OF EMPIRE

Morning Line Odds
8/1

Trainer: Brad Cox

Jockey: Flavien Prat

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Solid turn of foot; Brad Cox; the longer the better; 2 straight graded stakes wins.

CONS: Low speed figures; running style might hurt him in the Kentucky Derby.

BOTTOM LINE: You have to give him credit for back to back solid victories in the Risen Star Stakes (G2) and Arkansas Derby (G1). He seems to be getting better with each start and it seems like the longer the distance, the better. He now looks to be the best Cox horse coming into the Kentucky Derby (G1).

#15 FORTE

Morning Line Odds
3/1

Trainer: Todd Pletcher

Jockey: Irad Ortiz Jr.

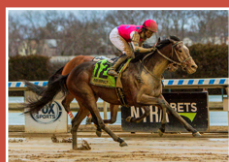

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Five stakes victories; has passed every test.

CONS: Beyers have regressed; visually the same horse as last year.

BOTTOM LINE: His latest victory in the Florida Derby (G1) opened the door for someone to move up to the top spot. He just keeps winning, but his speed figures are regressing, which is concerning. He's still a top contender, but at a short price, he might be a little sketchy.

#16 RAISE CAIN

Morning Line Odds
50/1

Trainer: Ben Colebrook

Jockey: Gerardo Corrales

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Impressive close to win the Gotham Stakes (G3).

CONS: Low numbers; running style; beaten by several horses on the trail; nowhere close in the Blue Grass Stakes (G1).

BOTTOM LINE: He earned a spot into the Kentucky Derby with a win in the Gotham Stakes (G3); however, that race set up perfectly for him. He made no impact in the Blue Grass Stakes (G1).

#17

DERMA SOTOGAKE

Morning Line Odds
10/1

Trainer: Hidetaka Otonashi

Jockey: Christophe Lemaire

Running Style: Speed

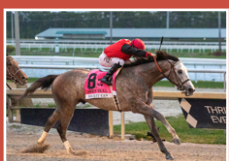

PROS: Japan is on a roll internationally; visually impressive win in the UAE Derby (G2).

CONS: UAE Derby horses have had zero prior success in the Kentucky Derby (G1).

BOTTOM LINE: We'll see if this horse can break the trend of UAE Derby (G2) runners making no impact in the Kentucky Derby (G1). He was very impressive in that victory, but others have been in the past as well. Japan will win this race one day, and it could be sooner than we think. You also cannot ignore how well his countryman Mandarin Hero did in the Santa Anita Derby (G1) to get second by a nose.

#18

ROCKET CAN

Morning Line Odds
30/1

Trainer: Bill Mott

Jockey: Junior Alvarado

Running Style: Closer

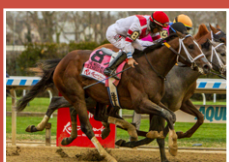

PROS: Won the Holy Bull Stakes (G3) despite running wide throughout; excellent pedigree; solid second in the Fountain of Youth Stakes (G2).

CONS: Beyers are low; lacks a huge turn of foot; didn't run well in the Arkansas Derby (G1).

BOTTOM LINE: He looked to be heading in the right direction to start the year, but his effort in the Arkansas Derby (G1) wasn't great. He might just be one-paced and a cut below the top of the crop.

#19

LORD MILES

Morning Line Odds
30/1

Trainer: Saffie Joseph Jr.

Jockey: Paco Lopez

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Improved greatly to win the Wood Memorial (G2).

CONS: Hadn't shown much before his win at Aqueduct.

BOTTOM LINE: Give him credit for improving at the right time and beating a suspect Wood Memorial (G2) field at Aqueduct. However, we'll need to see more improvement from him if he can do the same thing in Kentucky.

#20

CONTINUAR

Morning Line Odds
50/1

Trainer: Yoshito Yahagi

Jockey: Ryusei Sakai

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Japanese horses have been dangerous in big international races.

CONS: Was no match for the top two horses in the UAE Derby (G2).

BOTTOM LINE: He showed some talent on the international level but failed to get the job done against the top talent. His experience is good enough to think that he'll come to America and run ok, though.

CYCLONE MISCHIEF

Morning Line Odds
30/1

Trainer: Dale Romans

Jockey: Joel Rosario

Running Style: Speed

PROS: Solid pedigree and running style.

CONS: No match for the top horses in three straight starts.

BOTTOM LINE: He can play a factor in the pace of the race, but he doesn't seem good enough to stick around in the stretch run. He's getting better with experience, though, so he's not a completely illogical underneath play.

AE #22

MANDARIN HERO

Morning Line Odds
20/1

Trainer: Terunobu Fujita

Jockey: Kazushi Kimura

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Solid American racing debut; speed figures fit.

CONS: Running style not ideal; needs several defections to make the race.

BOTTOM LINE: His runner-up Santa Anita Derby (G1) finish was an eye-opener as he proved that he could compete with one of the top horses in this crop. If he gets into the race, then he'll be a factor, but several horses need to drop out.

AE #23

KING RUSSELL

Morning Line Odds
50/1

Trainer: Ron Moquett

Jockey: Rafael Bejarano

Running Style: Closer

PROS: Getting better at the right time.

CONS: Still needs to improve quite a bit.

BOTTOM LINE: This horse is getting better with each race, which is good, but he still has a ways to go if he wants to compete with the top group. His running style isn't ideal and he needs several defections just to make the gate.
