Preakness Welcome!

Thank you for purchasing the 2016 Preakness Guide presented by Guaranteed Tip Sheet and RacingDudes.com!

The Preakness Stakes is the second jewel of the elusive Triple Crown ran in between the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes. Called "The Run for the Black-Eyed Susans," the Preakness is run at Pimlico Race Course in Baltimore on the third Saturday of each May and was first run in 1873. The race is 1/16 mile shorter than the Kentucky Derby and ran at a distance of 1 & 3/16 miles for 3 year olds on the main dirt track. This year's edition of the Preakness will be run on Saturday, May 21.

After winning the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness is the next step for Nyquist along a possible Triple Crown, looking to repeat the feat accomplished by American Pharoah last year.

This "2016 Preakness Guide presented by Guaranteed Tip Sheet and RacingDudes.com" will give you the information needed to hopefully make a nice return on the two days at Pimlico including Black-Eyed Susan day on Friday, May 20.

This Preakness Guide includes:

- Preakness Overview including:
  - Picks from Racing Dudes, Saratoga Slim and Guaranteed Pick Sheet
  - Horse capsules for each of the horses entered in the 2016 Preakness field including:
    - Trainer, jockey, projected odds, horse running style (i.e., early speed, presser, closer)
    - Last five races including date, track, race (Graded stakes abbreviated to G1, G2 & G3 for Grade-1, Grade-2 & Grade-3), distance, finish and final Brisnet Speed Figure
    - Pros (positive angles on the horse), Cons (negative angles on the horse) and the Bottom Line
    - The horse capsules are broken into four categories Win Contenders (horses to use to win or on top in exotic wagers), Can Hit the Board (horses to use in the 2nd, 3rd or 4th place slots), Considers (horses to possibly use or toss), Tosses (horses to not include on tickets)
- Pace analysis using Brisnet running styles to help map out how the race will be run & who has the best chance to win & hit the board based on pace.
- Preakness Wagering Strategy including trifecta & superfecta approach
- Undercard & Multi-Race Wagering Strategy including Black Eyed Susan / Preakness Double strategy.

For questions and to discuss more feel free to visit racingdudes.com or tweet us at @SaratogaSlim or @racing_dudes on Twitter. Please note all of the horse capsules, pace analysis and wagering strategy were written by Saratoga Slim.

Thank you, Saratoga Slim

By using the Brisnet running styles of each horse, the pace can be predicted more easily. For those not familiar with the Brisnet Run Style Definitions, please see the descriptions to the left from the Brisnet.com website / library and a summary below:

Run Style Definitions

[ E ] A winner exhibiting a typical 'E' (or Early) run style would show the horse leading or battling for the lead through the duration of the race. An 'E' horse is any horse which typically vies for the early lead or whose better races are run on the lead. Most 'E' horses are need-the-lead types which can not reasonably be expected to successfully rate behind a pacesetter.

[ E/P ] A winner exhibiting a typical 'E/P' (or Early/Presser) run style would show the horse running 2nd or 3rd and within a few lengths early before making the winning move. A 'E/P' horse, like an 'E' horse , may also run on the frontend. However, unlike an 'E' horse, it can reasonably be expected to successfully lay just behind a pacesetter.

[P] A winner exhibiting a typical 'P' (or Presser) run style would show the horse running in the middle-of-the-pack early before making his winning move. A 'P' horse may at times run close to the pace but rarely, if ever, challenges for the lead early. Unlike a 'S' horse, the 'P' horse doesn't typically run from the rear-of-the-pack in it's better races.

[S] A winner exhibiting a typical 'S' (Sustain or Closer) run style would show the horse running in the back-of-the-pack early before making his late winning move.

[ NA ] A 'NA' (or Not Available) run style is used for first-time-starters and those horses without any meaningful running lines to accurately assess the hores's perferred run style.

[ Early Speed Points ] Ranging from a low of 0 points to a high of 8 points, this measures the Early Speed ability of the horse based upon its running position and beaten lengths at the 1st Call in recent races at today's distance. The higher the points, the more early speed the horse has shown in recent races. The Early Speed points are displayed in the past performances after the horse name and in parenthesis alongside BRIS Run Style - e.g. (P7).

The run style of the horse is either:

- E = Early
- E/P = Early/Presser
- P = Presser
- S = Sustained or Closer

The number next to the run style represents the early speed points. The numbers range from 0-8 and measure the Early Speed of the horse based on its running position and beaten lengths at the first call of recent races. The higher the number, the more early speed a horse has shown in recent races.

The table to the bottom left shows the Brisnet running styles for each horse expected in the 2016 Preakness Stakes.

It should be immediately noted that 7 of the 11 probable horses have either "E" (Early) or "E/P" (Early / Presser) as their run styles. With the majority of the horses wanting to naturally show early speed, there is every reason to believe that they will hook up on the front end and press each other into fast fractions.

Horse	Ru	risnet Inning Style
Abiding Star	E8
Uncle Lino	E7	Early
Laoban	E6	Larry
Awesome Speed	E6
Stradivari	E/P8	Early /
Collected	E/P7	Pressers
Nyquist	E/P6	FIESSEIS
Exaggerator	Р	Pressers
Lani	N/A	N/A
Fellowship	S0	Closers
Cherry Wine	S0	Closels

The most likely pace setter may be the maiden Laoban (E6) since he set hot paces in both his last two Stakes races (Bluegrass & Gotham), but trainer Guillot is taking the blinkers off him for this big race, so it is possible that he will sit off the pace for once.

Abiding Star (E8) has been leading at the first call in his last 8 races, so is also a likely pace setter, but his early Brisnet pace figures show that he may not have enough speed to capture the lead in a classier group than he is accustomed too.

Uncle Lino (E7) went gate-to-wire in his last race showing early speed and the ability to hold on late, actually accelerating (using his Brisnet late pace figures). He was able to sit 2nd in his previous two races, so he may be pressing the pace instead of setting it in the Preakness.

Awesome Speed (E6) is named suitably, as he likes to show speed as he did in almost winning the Federico Tesio in gate-to-wire fashion (as was placed the winner via disqualification).

Before getting bumped from the gate in the Fountain of Youth, he won on the front end in both of his nongraded Stakes wins, so there is no doubt that he will be on or near the lead in the Preakness.

Nyquist (E/P6) is just too good and has too much front-end speed to let these horses get away from him, though. There is a possibility that jockey Mario Gutierrez tries to take Nyquist gate-to-wire and avoid getting him caught behind horses or in traffic. More likely, Gutierrez will find a nice spot to flank outside of one or two of the "E" horses and stalk from there.

May 19, 2016

The "hype horse" Stradivari (E/P8) has shown the same ability to flank outside one horse in his two wins and demolish them late. Based on post position, he will be looking for a similar spot like Nyquist to sit outside of Laoban, Abiding Star, Uncle Lino and Awesome Speed.

Javier Castellano is just too good of a jockey not to get Collected (E/P7) in a good spot early. He's another one that has shown the ability to win gate-to-wire in the Sunland Festival of Racing Stakes. He sat 2nd flanking a maiden in the Lexington, so he will most likely be looking for a stalking trip, too. With four horses looking for the lead and another three horses looking to get in perfect stalking position, there is no doubt that these horse will be pressing each other into fast fractions early.

Exaggerator (P) has changed his running style to be more off the pace and make one big run late. Earlier in his career, he had been nearer to the early pace. Most likely, Exaggerator will be at the back end of the mid-pack horses and in front of the deep closers. Desormeaux will time his run and Exaggerator's fearless nature to go in between horses will undoubtedly allow him to get his closing kick in earlier than the late closers.

It's anybody's guess what Lani (N/A) will do from the gate. He broke badly in both the UAE Derby and the Kentucky Derby, so it has put him further back in the field than he may naturally want to be. What he has shown in both races and in his Japanese races is that he has late kick, so he will most likely be somewhere near the back of the field looking for that one-run.

Both Cherry Wine (S0) and Fellowship (S0) have closed late to hit the board in some of the biggest Kentucky Derby prep races. Of the 12 Derby preps giving 50 or 100 points to the winner in the United States run on dirt, Cherry Wine & Fellowship combined to close in 4 of them (33%) to get into the trifecta or superfecta.

Predicting the 2016 Preakness Pace:

Predicting a fast pace in this year's Preakness is almost a foregone conclusion. If this happens, a "pace meltdown" may occur and allow mid-pack horses and closers to get up in the final strides to hit the board.

Nyquist has shown the ability to thrive at the  $1\frac{1}{4}$  mile trip, so is the most likely of the early pace horses to be around late. Uncle Lino showed great late pace in the California Chrome Stakes and may also be able to hold on for a piece. Exaggerator is the  $2^{nd}$  best horse in this crop and will undoubtedly be flying late. Cherry Wine and Fellowship both have a good chance to be closing late into the fast early fractions to hit the board.

Preakness Wagering Strategy

As always, handicapping is only a part of the Preakness puzzle. Wagering correctly and knowing where to focus your money is as important as picking the winner.

Before looking at wagering strategy, money management must first be discussed. You will lose your shirt if you don't decide on your budget going into Preakness weekend. There have been many days at the track where I start chasing, lose track of where I'm at with my budget, start betting and even if I hit a few races late, I still come out behind for the day. Deciding on your budget going in and being disciplined to keep to those bets will make you more confident going into the big 2 days of wagering for the Black Eyed Susan and Preakness days.

On Preakness weekend, I am looking to wager only $100 over the two days of racing. I follow the axiom, "Bet a little to win a lot!" The Preakness is no time to start spreading and betting a lot of combinations when the favorite wins the race so often.

You can decide what you are willing to wager on these two days. It might be more than I am willing to wager or less. The wagering strategy below will be based on my $100 budget and you can adjust accordingly to your own budget. I'll be looking to budget about $40 on betting on the Preakness by itself and use the rest of my budget on multi-race wagers and undercard race plays.

Preakness Ticket Structure:

From a wagering standpoint, the Preakness is usually a more "formful" race historically than the Kentucky Derby on the win end. The Preakness winner has gone off at odds of less than 3-1 in 12 of the last 16 years. Additionally, the Kentucky Derby winner has gone onto win the Preakness in 10 of the last 19 years. There are still opportunities to make a score on the Preakness though.

The exacta, trifecta and superfecta have paid handsomely with averages over the past 16 years shown to the right:

With big exotic pay-offs possible, hope isn't lost on the Preakness. The key to the making money on the Preakness is not trying to beat the favorite and Kentucky Derby winner (this year Nyquist) in the Preakness, but trying to fill out exotics plays for in-race wagering with the right longshots underneath. Another key is to not spread too

Average Preakness
Payouts: Last 16 Years
$2 Exacta	$ 109.96
$1 Trifecta	$ 644.84
$1 Superfecta	$3,694.75

much at the bottom of these plays and have conviction on who you think can round out the exacta, trifecta and superfecta. If you spread too much with the favorite on top, you may start betting too much on too many combinations and even if you hit, your overall profit will be small.

The key horse underneath in this year's Preakness is Cherry Wine. Leaving Nyquist in the win slot in exotic wagers, I will move Cherry Wine around in exotic wagers and play multiple times as follows:

$10.00	Trife	ecta	$6.00	Exa	cta
1	1st	Nyquist	1	1st	Nyquist
1	2nd	Exaggerator	1	2nd	Cherry Wine
1	3rd	Cherry Wine	$6.00	Tota	al Bet
$10.00	Tota	l Bet
$2.00	Trife	ecta	$4.00	Exa	cta
1	1st	Nyquist	1	1st	Nyquist
1	2nd	Exaggerator	2	2nd	Fellowship, Uncle Lino
	0.1	Fellowship, Uncle Lino	$8.00	Tota	al Bet
2	3rd	reliowship, oncie Lino	40.00

The straight trifecta with Nyquist over Exaggerator over Cherry Wine won't break the bank by itself, but playing it for $10 straight may return a nice payout overall with Cherry Wine being a longshot.

As a back-up, putting Cherry Wine in the 2nd place spot in a straight exacta for a few times under Nyquist would be a decent return. Checking the exacta probable payouts before the race and weighting properly is recommended.

I also like Fellowship and Uncle Lino on the bottom end of the exotics at huge longshot prices. As a backup play, I will play them in the 3rd spot in a $2 trifecta as shown above and also play them in the place spot in a small $4 straight exacta under Nyquist.

I only think one horse can beat Nyquist in the field and that horse is Exaggerator. Win money on Exaggerator at possibly 3/1 odds is a tough bet to make, but I may be willing to put $10 to win on Exaggerator based on the odds if he's 3/1 or higher.

$1.00	Sup	erfecta
2	1st	Exaggerator, Nyquist
1	2nd	Exaggerator, Nyquist
3	3rd	Cherry Wine, Fellowship, Uncle Lino
2	4th	Cherry Wine, Fellowship, Uncle Lino
$12.00	Tota	l Bet

A more lucrative play may be to box Exaggerator and Nyquist in a $1 superfecta over the three longshots that I like Cherry Wine, Fellowship and Uncle Lino, as shown to the left, for a total $12 bet.

These bets are playing against both Collected and Stradivari, who project to be the 3rd and 4th choices in the wagering. If either one jumps up in this spot then my wagers won't look so good, but if you use these two horses, the payouts will be miniscule. By playing against them, I'm looking for a bigger score.

These bets above equal the $40 that I wanted to bet for the Preakness. I have weighted my bets more heavily using my top longshot Cherry Wine. I have protected using my other two longshots Uncle Lino and Fellowship for smaller wagers. All of those bets used Nyquist in the top spot. I have protected against a Nyquist upset using Exaggerator in the one hole with Nyquist in my superfecta play. If the odds are right, I may play a $10 win wager on Exaggerator to bring my total to $50 or as a back-up play shift that win money to Stradivari, if he's 10/1 or higher in the Win pool.

Undercard & Multi-Race Wagering Strategy

With some of the best horses in North American converging on Baltimore over these two days, opportunities to bet on Graded Stakes winning horses at long odds will be available and it will be important to pick your spots, always looking for value.

From Friday, May 20 to Saturday, May 21, Pimlico will hold a total of 15 Stakes races covering all the major divisions in North American horse racing as shown in the table below with some potential entries:

Multi-Race Wagers: With $50 to $60 remaining in my original budget, I will spread money and pick my spots over the two days of racing on individual race play and some multi-race wagers, as follows:

Black Eyed Susan (BES) / Preakness Double: With Land Over Sea likely in the BES, it will be very difficult to bet this wager with Nyquist. The payouts will be microscopic using the two O'Neill trainees in this double play. The Dixie / Preakness double may provide more value as the turf race before the Preakness should allow for a much larger price to win including possibly Conquest Typhoon, who has had good reports recently. If you are looking to play single Land Over Sea in a double then a better bet would be to spread in the wide-open Hilltop. Horses to target in the Hilltop are Thundering Sky and Koala Queen.

Pick 3s, Pick 4s and Pick 5s: Opportunities to break the bank will be abundant over the two days in these pools, if you are willing to handicap the undercard races. The $0.50 minimum wager makes these wagers manageable on a smaller budget. The Pick-6 pool is a $2 minimum wager and very tough to manage on a small budget.

A great tool named DRF Ticket Maker is available on-line and on your smart phone to create these multi-race tickets. You are able to rank the chance of a horse winning each leg of these wagers as either A, B or C and the program creates the tickets for you based on your budget. You will need to go "skinny" in a few legs in these wagers or your tickets will get expensive quickly. A few single options on the undercard based on the potential entries in the table above include:

- Land Over Sea Black Eyed Susan on Friday (2nd in Kentucky Oaks)
- Lady Shipman The Very One on Saturday (2nd in 2015 Breeders' Cup Turf Sprint)
- Justin Squared Chick Lang on Saturday (Undefeated 2-0 lifetime, won season debut at Santa Anita)
- Nyquist Preakness on Saturday (Kentucky Derby champion)
